THE Hon. O. CHADWICE, in his recently published report on the proposed distributory system of the Victoria waterworks. says he sees no reason why the restriction as to building above the aqueduct should not be abclished along both conduits. Proper precautions being adopted for the drainage of such districts the water would be perfectly safe from contamination. Indeed, he says, if the surface of the Pokfulam aqueduct were converted into a public road. like the Bowen Road, its waters would be much safer than in its present condition, difficult of access, unseen, and where in cuttings affording a convenient latrine for grasscutters and builders. It has always seemed to us a great pity that the Pokfulam aqueduct was not preserved as a road. It has now become almost impassable, but before the earth was washed over it and the sides of the cuttings fell in it formed a most delightful walk, not much inferior to Bowen Road. We now learn from Mr. CHADWICK that for the maintenance of the aqueduct itself it is desirable that it should be treated in the same way as the Tytam conSeptember, 1°25, and the Straits Pepper Co. and I admired it very much. tion." This is quite possible, of course; the Mexican peon is of a passionate and hasty temper, and might easily be led into an outbreak having disastrous results; but it is hardly good taste on the part of the Californian press to suggest such things. Nor does the Bulletin show any excess of modes. ty in claiming for the people of the Pacific Slope a great respect for the law in their treatment of the Chinese. The records of the past ten years afford abundant evidence of outrages against law and order by the people in the Pacific States when dealing with the Chinese. The truth is the people of the Golden state may [23] urge, if they please, that they do not want the Chinese, and they may adopt measures to restrict their influx, but they must not pretend that the Chinese receive fair or impartial treatment in the Pacific States. For this is what the Chinese do not get in the Western portion of the Great Republic, and it does not improve the case of the Anti-Chinese party to say they do. Possibly when the United States Go-
